

ONS driving changes in the oil and gas sector

Titalia were using the ONS as a venue to network with their existing customer base. "Our customers know us well as specialists in forged titanium products," said Teresa Verzino. Marco Riboldi added that Titalia were generally seeing a pick-up in demand, but that European manufacturers were definitely in a competitive market. "Fortunately Titalia has a loyal customer base who appreciate our product quality, reliable deliveries and ethical manufacturing and business practices," he said.